

Instructions on navigating to the 'new' SafeSport training location...

As a new official, you should already be aware that the U. S. Olympic Committee stipulates that USA Track & Field is required to have ALL USATF Officials complete SafeSport training.

If you have not completed the training by this time, there has been a new web site set up to access the training.

The following instructions should help you navigate to the new site and get you started.

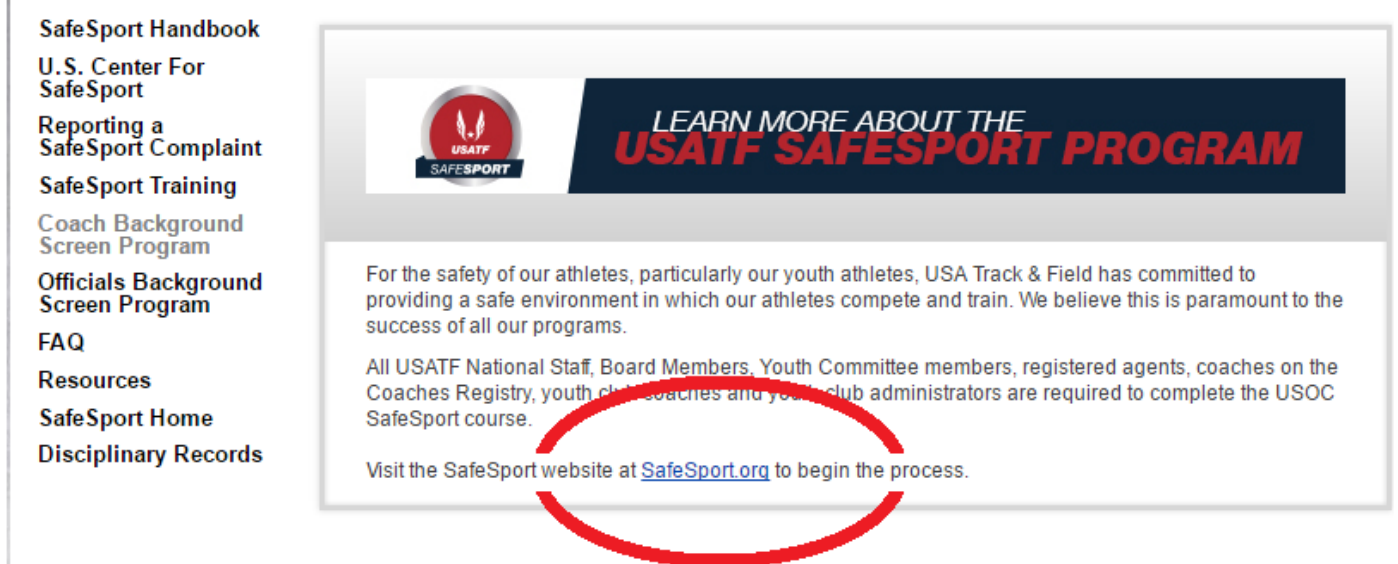

1. First log in to the USATF website: <http://www.usatf.org>. (You do not need to log in to your membership profile, but you will need your USATF membership number in a bit for the SafeSport site registration).
2. Follow the directory ribbon near the top of the page with your mouse cursor to the dropdown menu to "Resources for Officials" and click on that tab.

3. From the new page, which gives you access to a wide variety of resources for officials, select "SafeSport" from the menu on the left-hand side of the page.

4. Selecting 'SafeSport' takes you to the next page, which covers some background about SafeSport, there is a link at the bottom of the article that takes you to the SafeSport.org web page.

5. Having taken the link to the SafeSport.org page, you can now register and begin the training modules.
